

House Committee on Homeland Security

The Congressional Budget Act of 1974 requires the Congressional Budget Office, to the extent practicable, to prepare estimates of the budgetary effects of legislation ordered reported by Congressional authorizing committees. In order to provide the Congress with as much information as possible, the attached table summarizes information about the estimated direct spending and revenue effects of some of the legislation that has been ordered reported by the House Committee on Homeland Security during the 117th Congress. The legislation listed in this table generally would have small effects, if any, on direct spending or revenues, CBO estimates. Where possible, the table also provides information about the legislation's estimated effects on spending subject to appropriation and on intergovernmental and private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

H.R. 3756	Department of Homeland Security Climate Change Research Act	Ordered reported	09/14/22	750	0	0	Between zero and $500,000	No	No	No	Jeremy Crimm
H.R. 3756 would authorize the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to conduct research on mitigating the effects of climate change on homeland security. For the first four years after enactment, the bill also would require DHS to report on those activities annually to the Congress. CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 3756 would not affect direct spending or revenues. CBO estimates that implementing the bill would have an insignificant effect on spending subject to appropriation. The bill contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.
H.R. 7779	DHS Restrictions on Confucius Institutes and Chinese Entities of Concern Act	Reported	08/19/22	750	0	0	Not estimated	No	No	No	Madeleine Fox
H.R. 7779 would bar higher education institutions that have relationships with the Confucius Institutes or Chinese entities of concern from receiving certain funds from the Department of Homeland Security (DHS). The bill would require DHS to report to the Congress 18 months after implementation of the bill. CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 7779 would not affect direct spending or revenues. CBO has not estimated the discretionary costs of implementing the bill. The bill contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.
