

House Committee on Financial Services

The Congressional Budget Act of 1974 requires the Congressional Budget Office, to the extent practicable, to prepare estimates of the budgetary effects of legislation ordered reported by Congressional authorizing committees. In order to provide the Congress with as much information as possible, the attached table summarizes information about the estimated direct spending and revenue effects of some of the legislation that has been ordered reported by the House Committee on Financial Services during the 117th Congress. The legislation listed in this table generally would have small effects on direct spending or revenues, CBO estimates. Where possible, the table also provides information about the legislation's estimated effects on spending subject to appropriation and on intergovernmental and private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

H.R. 68	Housing Fairness Act of 2022	Ordered reported	06/22/22	750	0	0	Not estimated	No	No	No	Madeleine Fox

H.R. 68 would direct the Department of Housing and Urban Development to detect instances of housing discrimination based on characteristics specified in the Fair Housing Act. The bill also would reauthorize a competitive grant program to assist nonprofit organizations studying housing discrimination. The bill would authorize the appropriation of $416 million over the 2023-2027 period and $636 million over the 2028-2033 period for those activities. CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 68 would not affect direct spending or revenues. Because H.R. 68 would increase costs for activities not covered by the specified authorizations, CBO has not estimated the discretionary costs of implementing the bill. The bill contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

H.R. 2620	Investor Choice Act of 2021	Ordered reported	11/16/21	370	Between zero and $500,000	Between zero and $500,000	Not estimated	Yes	No	Yes	David Hughes

H.R. 2620 would, among other actions, prohibit brokers, dealers, and investment advisors from entering into contracts that mandate arbitration in cases involving a dispute with a customer. As a result, CBO expects that the number of lawsuits filed in federal courts each year would increase; those collections can be spent without further appropriation. CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 2620 would increase civil penalty collections, which are recorded as revenues. CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 2620 would have an insignificant effect on direct spending and revenues over the 2023-2032 period. CBO has not estimated the discretionary costs of implementing the bill. The bill would impose a private-sector mandate as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act, but CBO cannot determine whether the cost of the mandate would exceed the annual threshold of $184 million in 2022 (adjusted annually for inflation). The bill contains no intergovernmental mandates.

H.R. 2965 would allow funding under the Department of Housing and Urban Development's Emergency Solutions Grants program to be used to create safe parking lots where people experiencing homelessness can park overnight and connect with support services. The bill contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

H.R. 4617 would require the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) to study and report to the Congress on the practice of payment for order flow (payments received by a stock brokerage for directing orders to another firm), including conflicts that can arise from such arrangements. The bill would require the SEC to revise its rules in keeping with the study's results. CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 4617 would not affect direct spending or revenues. CBO has not estimated the discretionary costs of implementing the bill. The bill would impose a private-sector mandate as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act that would not exceed the annual threshold of $184 million in 2022 (adjusted annually for inflation). The bill contains no intergovernmental mandates.
